

North Carolina FCCLA State Leadership Conference COVID Protocols

NC FCCLA considers the health and safety of all who attend the 2022 NC FCCLA Culinary Competition and State Leadership Conference, including our attendees, staff, partners, and on-site vendors/service providers as our top priority.

NC FCCLA will implement protective measures and protocols aimed at reducing the likelihood of the spread of the novel coronavirus (COVID-19) between participants and others attending its events. These measures and protocols are designed to be consistent with current guidance from the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), as well as state and local authorities. However, NC FCCLA cannot guarantee those event participants will not be exposed to Covid-19 while participating in or attending its events.

Participants will be required to sign a COVID Safety Agreement and Waiver Form. This form must be provided at the time of arrival and check-in at the conference. If this form is not submitted, participants cannot attend the conference.

NC FCCLA will continue to monitor the COVID-19 status and remain in constant contact with our hotels and event venues. This plan is a living document that will continue to evolve as the venue and local protocols change:

- Participants must follow all state and local guidelines, as well as those set forth by the hotel hosting the NC FCCLA SLC.
- All attendees will be required to observe the social distancing rules established by the venue and local authorities at the time of the event.
- Participants should complete their own daily health assessments before arriving on-site at the conference.
- If required, wear face masks at all times when in the conference areas and public spaces.
- If required, stay socially distant from one another in the conference areas and public spaces.
- Wash your hands often and cover your cough or sneeze.
- Feeling sick unexpectedly? Do not come to the conference area and seek medical attention to get a COVID-19 test, at your own expense. You will be required to quarantine in your hotel room until a negative test result is provided. If sharing a room, all roommates will also be required to quarantine in the room and secure a negative COVID-19 test before being admitted back into the conference activities.
- Any attendee who does not follow the guidelines set forth above, will be required to return their name badge and leave the conference immediately at their own expense.
- A complete list of Covid-19 precautions from Marriott International is available at www.clean.marriott.com.
